"Love, love, our dear old high school . . ."

With sincere and tender affection, this edition of the Mirror is dedicated to our Gold Star Alumni of World War II.

They lived sometime among us. Their laughter and their merry voices were heard in hall and class-room. Theirs was the joy of living; to them the future was vital and glowing with promise.

What we enjoy, they enjoyed: the thrust and urge of life, a beautiful sunset, the affection of their companions, the security of home, the play and laughter of children, the comfort of work well done.

For them, in undue season, life was forced rudely to completion. To preserve our American liberties their lives were given and for the living alumni is the task to cherish and preserve the fruits of their sacrifice.

FRANK STAPLES JACKSON
Superintendent Emeritus.

We, indeed, raise our eyes to our high school at the end of this school year. Our school activities are the very center of our lives. It is here that we make lasting friendships, study the fundamentals of various subjects, assume responsibilities, learn to respect the rights of others, and make ready to face the future with the knowledge that we are preparing for a fuller, happier life.

We shall remember our high school in gratitude for the many experiences which we had within its beloved walls. Yes, we shall always be proud to say, "This is our High School and to it, we most heartily raise our eyes."

"To you, our dear old high school,
we raise our eyes."

Board of Education . . .

BOARD OF EDUCATION . . . Genially planning the training of future citizens . . . readjusting from war to peacetime the operations of our public schools.

Working for the administration of Punxsutawney schools is a tremendous task. Without the wise planning and efficient work of the Board of Education, our schools could not progress as rapidly as they have. The success of our school system depends on the intelligence, forethought, and ability of the seven men on this board. This year, now that the war is over, the Board of Education had to work at the colossal undertaking of filling teacher vacancies, readjusting to peacetime operations, and resuming pre-war standards. These jobs have all been done without publicity, without pay, and in addition to their own professions or callings. They get their reward from the satisfaction of seeing the fine results of their decisions and knowing that they have performed well a gigantic task. To you, the Board of Education, we express our appreciation and gratitude.

A Salute to Our Chapel Programs

Friday, Chapel Day, holds a deep meaning for the students attending Punxsutawney High School and for the alumni who so frequently pay us a visit. It means a thousand students and faculty members filing into the auditorium, a hushed silence, an impressive salute to the flag, the presentation of a delightful program, all of which constitutes one of the most unforgettable experiences in our school life.

Our programs are something to note, for they offer a variety of interests. Often we march to the snappy music provided by the Junior and Senior Band or listen to a concert planned just for us. The Choir, the Sextet, and "sings," in which everyone participates, all prove enjoyable. Frequently, we look forward to a Thespian play which always offers us the best in entertainment or we might bring down the rafters with a rip-roaring pep meeting led by our snappy, colorful cheerleaders. For our serious side, interesting and instructive lectures by well-known speakers are often scheduled.

We sit proudly in our seats, Seniors in the front row and the Freshmen nearest the sky in the balcony. The chapel programs are enjoyed by everyone, regardless of who he is or where he sits. With sincere pride, we salute our Chapel Programs.

And indeed, we, the students truly sing to our teachers, who have guided us so well and faithfully this school year. Who more deserves the respect and homage given them? They have guided, directed, and very capably prepared the students to face the future unafraid, and with courage in their hearts. The teachers of Punxsutawney High School have helped immensely to promote understanding and friendship among the student body. They have encouraged us to do our best. They have given us good advice, these kind counselors of ours. We owe them more than we realize now. In later years, the students will remember their teachers with grateful hearts. The faculty are our friends as well as our instructors. They have helped us mold useful and constructive lives. And so, we heartily raise our voices in a song of praise to our teachers for the task they have performed so faithfully and well.

We will recall our high school days when all other memories of youth have been forgotten. We are certain that we shall be able to remember the real ties of friendship and confidences of our classmates; our mingling in the corridors; our silent dreams and plans for the future; our classroom discussions between teachers and students; all the fun we had at the football games; the thrill and pride we felt when our band played the "Victory March"; all these events we shall recall and cherish as a part of our high school days.

As we come near the day of our departure and prepare to leave Punxsutawney High School, we experience a feeling of happiness and yet regret. We are happy because we know we have accomplished our first big goal in life; we are sad because we know we are breaking away from something which is a definite part of us. We realize now how much our high school really means to us. Yes, we are reluctant to leave; but, as we look back at the school we have learned to love, may we say to all, "We'll always recall our high school days" and cherish their memory.

Seniors . . .

"And we'll always recall our high school days."

Senior Class . . .

We, the Senior Class, greatly appreciate the fact that we are the first peace-time class to graduate since 1941 and can leave high school with happy hearts and definite plans for the future.

All of us have dreamed of our graduation day; now, we approach it with mingled feelings: some with elation that school-days are over; some with regret that they are; and others with a feeling of anticipation as they plan to go on to fields of higher education.

When we look back over four years of high school, we feel certain that we have profited from our experiences. We have a feeling of security as we plan to step into the future, for we know that we have the privilege of entering a world free from the roar of guns and restored to peaceful tranquility.

"ALMA MATER"

To you, our dear old high school, we raise our eyes,
You've caused us many worries and many sighs,
To you loyalty still is the song we raise
And we'll always recall our high school days.
Study is our motto, and we never shirk;
And, when the time comes around, we know how to work.
Dream, dream, dream and forget;
Cast out useless regret,
Love, love, our dear old high school;
To you we sing.

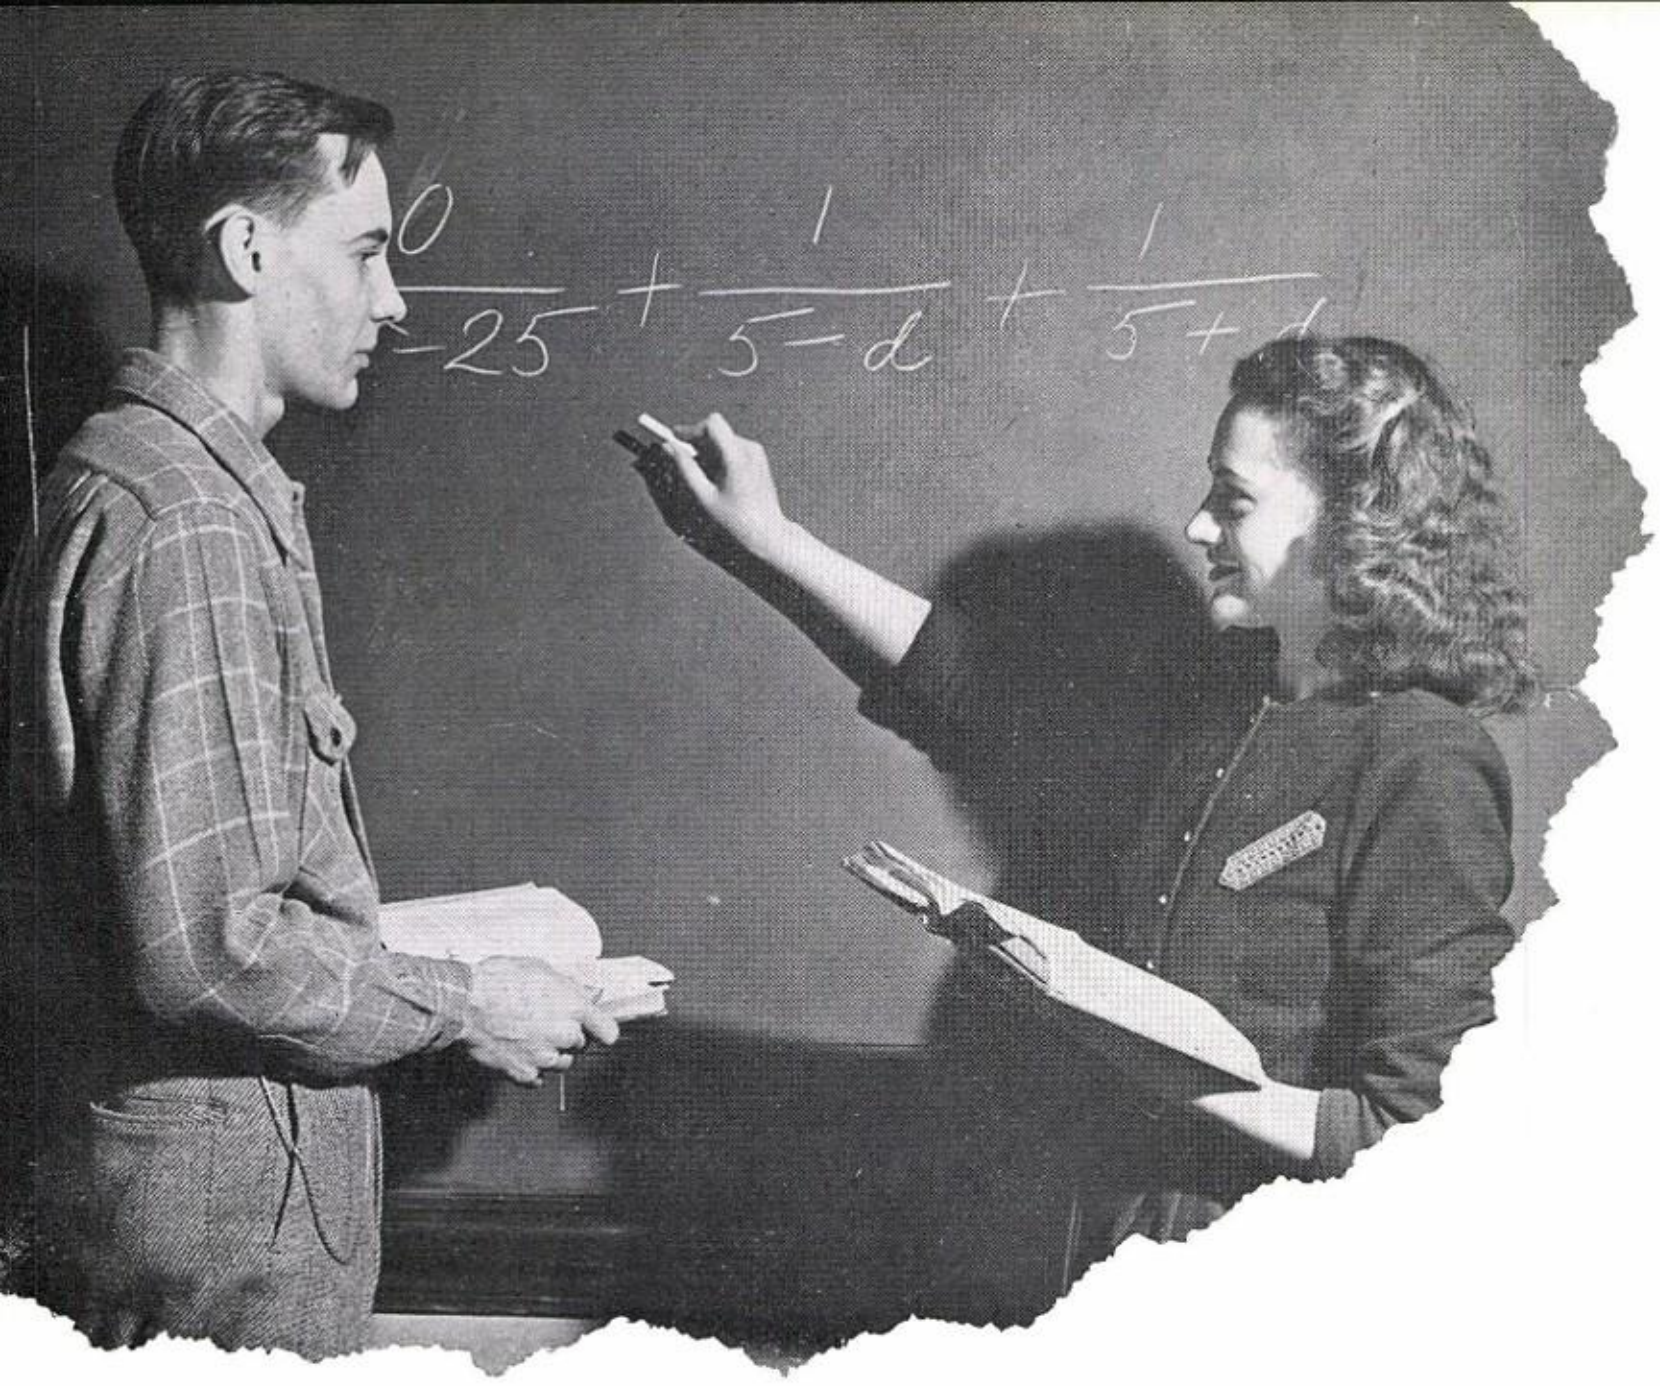
An important part of our education comes from the enjoyment and satisfaction we receive from our participation in extra-curricular activities. Much of a student's training is received outside his classroom. In Punxsutawney High School we are offered a wide selection of clubs and activities from which we may choose the one best suited to our personal needs and ambitions.

It is through an experience in activities that we learn to develop friendship outside the classroom. We see our classmates in a different light. We learn to work together and be useful to each other and the school in general. Some of our clubs point the way to vocational preparation; others add to our academic training, but all educate us to live peacefully and helpfully with our fellow men. We feel, as a member of an activity group, that we are preparing for a well-balanced life which will make it much easier for us to take our place in society.



Activities . . .

"And when the time comes around,
we know how to work."

THE MIRROR

Editorial Staff . . .

Busy the year around . . . rushing to meet the deadline . . . producing a colorful yearbook.

The Editorial Staff of the Mirror wishes to make the public aware of the fact that a yearbook becomes a reality this year instead of a Commencement number. A vote of the school proved that nearly a hundred percent wanted an annual and were willing to pay the additional cost for informal pictures and padded hardback covers.

When the idea of a theme for the book proposed itself, Joyce Alexis suggested that we use our Alma Mater. Thus you will find all divisions of the book pointing in that direction.

Then the real work of the staff began. It was their duty to collect and edit all the material and pool their skills and talents for the completion of a 1946 edition of the Mirror.

This group takes pride in the accomplishment of the many difficult problems which confronted them. Some of them worked far into the night to create material that was different from anything we had before.

The staff typists did their share, too. Much credit should be given to Helen Young and Barbara Ecklund who have willingly contributed their time and effort.

The Editorial Staff, which is larger this year than in previous years, is under the direction of Mrs. Robinson and under the general supervision of Miss Margaret C. Boles. Ramona DeLaney is the capable Editor-in-Chief.

Our task is completed. It is now our sincere wish that you will find great enjoyment in your Mirror.

The Business Staff . . .

Making surveys . . . selling advertisements . . . collecting money . . . recording receipts and disbursements of money . . . distributing the Mirror.

The business staff of the Mirror, this year, was motivated by a strong sense of co-operation and responsibility. As usual, the work was performed with efficiency.

The members received practical experience in salesmanship, for it was their duty to visit the various business establishments and arrange for the advertisements which appear in the Mirror. An accurate record of all yearbooks ordered and of money collected was checked and recorded. Books must balance, and happy is the staff when the accounts check. When the Mirror arrives from the printer, the business staff assumes the responsibility of accurate distribution.

This year, an interesting survey was made of comparative cost of yearbooks from other schools. This data is being compiled and will be of great use next year.

Phyllis Brocious, Mabel Jordan, and Denzel Wilson deserve special credit for the responsibility they assumed. The entire staff is under the supervision of Miss Edith Bowers.

Hi-Lights Staff . . .

News of coming events . . . latest scoops . . . producing a school paper of unusual merit.

Among the busiest organizations in the high school is the Hi-Lights staff. While other clubs meet only once a month, this group must be constantly at work.

Members are always on the lookout for the latest scoops and for ideas to develop into features and editorials. After the information has been gathered, it is converted into interesting articles. Even then the work is not completed. Headlines must be written and the make-up planned.

This year, under the direction of Raymond Tronzo and Bert States, the Hi-Lights has been modernized by a new style head and a new plan of make-up. Other members of the editorial staff are: Joyce Alexis, Ramona DeLaney, Ruth Collinson, Marjorie Dickson, Flora Belle Dodson, Lois McCreight, and Doramae Hetrick.

The reporters are members of Miss Niel's English II Class in which journalism is taught. There is a different group of reporters for each issue.

Miss Dorothy Niel is the able faculty adviser for the staff. Mr. Marvin Clark has charge of the pictures which provide one of the Hi-Lights most popular features.

To this group goes the credit for producing a school paper of unusual merit.

Library Club . . .

Well organized librarians . . . aiding Miss Fenton . . . helping with the care of books . . . keeping the library attractive.

"Who hath a book
Has but read
And he may be
A King indeed;
His kingdom is
His inglenook
All this is his
Who hath a book."

The Library Club combines service for the school with the actual experience of working in the library. The girls take turns doing library work before and after school. They learn to mend books, to charge and discharge books, and to perform many other useful duties in library technique. This experience is found to be of great value to them, not only in helping to find material for their own work, but also in becoming familiar with the organization of a library.

The Library Club meets on the first Tuesday of each month. At the club meetings the members learn more about the routine of the library by means of games and quotations. The girls gain enough knowledge about library work to help them decide whether they would like to become librarians in the future.

The club is under the efficient supervision of Miss Fenton. The officers are: Angeline Certo, President; Carolyn Pounds, Vice President; Ella Marie Becker, Secretary; Eunice Barnette, Treasurer.

Thespian Society . . .

Providing the best in entertainment . . . developing an interest in dramatics . . . learning the art of make-up.

Heading the list as one of the most active and best-known clubs in P.H.S. is the Thespian Society. Dating back to 1927, the school's notable actors have been organized into this club. Their purpose has been to foster worth while plays and to develop an interest in dramatics as a vehicle of education, pleasure, and entertainment. This club is very unique in that no banquets are given, no insignia or club sweaters are worn during the school year; but a Thespian pin is awarded on Class Day to each senior member that has earned a certain number of points as actors, property manager, prompter, and student director.

In their monthly meetings, Thespian members have studied the characteristics of a good play, the art of make-up, modern actors and plays.

While fostering the study of dramatics, Thespians have presented the following one-act plays during the school year: Three's a Crowd, Soft Boiled Egg, Unicorn and a Fish, Christmas at Home, Ten Room Cottage, and The Bride Wore Red Pajamas. Three's a Crowd, has given many performances and has traveled extensively. In the exchange of plays between schools, it was given at DuBois.

The big event for all Thespians is the annual high school play. Talents of the best actors in P.H.S. are secured for this annual production. Sixteen in August with Barbara Downie in the leading role, was presented this year. This hilarious comedy concerns the problems of a very energetic girl and of her father.

The very capable faculty adviser for the Thespian Society is Miss Margaret C. Boles.

The club officers are: President, Robert Grube; Vice President, Barbara Downie; Secretary-Treasurer, Doris Hritz.

"Sixteen in August". . .

The highlight of the season for the Thespian Society is the production of the annual high school play. This year a comedy entitled Sixteen in August was presented by the outstanding actors of our school. When an exasperated father tells his 15-year-old daughter that she is to stay home for a whole summer vacation, then doesn't he become a problem to his young daughter? He certainly does! Gusty's parents refuse to see that she can be efficient and reliable in her own up-to-date ways. Doctor Goodrich tries to inflict his old-fashioned way on his young daughter, but runs into many difficulties while trying. Portraying the part well as the energetic young heroine, Gusty, was Barbara Downie. Gusty's father, Doctor Mortimer Goodrich, who often spoke explosively, was capably handled by Arthur Edwards. Playing the part of Gusty's boyfriend, Arthur Peterson, was Bert States. Doctor Goodrich's office nurse who was the timid, efficient type, was ably presented by Helen Byers. The tart spinsterish maid, Asia May, was Mary Louise Gaffney. The young awkward neighbor girl, Lil Stone, was Joy Bell. Always down with a headache was Mrs. Goodrich, the fussy feminine type, effectively presented by Mary Brooks. Other characters were the fashionable Duke Weatherby—Ronald Lasher; the young sophisticated Miss Cynthia Thornton, Willa Mae Dodson; Carol Dean, the pale invalid in the wheelchair, Phebe Smith; Carol's nervous aunt, Thelma Bair; the young childish Effie McCann, Patricia Altman.

Spending many long hours as prompter, Louise Ferringer did a grand job. Gloria Petrick acted as the efficient property mistress, collecting all the needed materials and properly distributing them. The very capable directress, Miss Margaret C. Boles, spent much time changing positions, interpreting lines, urging everyone to speak louder and more slowly. Practices were held every evening after school and dress rehearsal was held the night before the matinee on February 28. The final performance was given on the evening of March 1, where it met great success.

The members of the cast will tell you that it was hard work; but, if given another chance, they would take it.

Lowell Peoples, Cameron Mumper, Eugene Shick, Mr. Wilson,
William Startzell, Tom Heckendorn.

Stage Crew . . .

Creating new lighting effects . . . adjusting sound devices . . . setting up scenery . . . working behind the scenes.

Behind every successful performance on the stage is the splendid work of the stage crew. On nights before a busy performance, these boys work long. Either they are busy setting up scenery or they are busy tearing it down. If a piece of furniture has to be shifted or a light adjusted, these are the boys to do it. Much time is spent working with their sponsor, Mr. Wilson, who puts forth his zealous efforts to create the right effect. Their largest project is the high school play and it is necessary for them to learn the varied details of the performance so that the bell will ring at the precise moment, that the curtain will be pulled at the right time and that the furniture will be shifted quickly. All of these things insure a smooth performance.

We think so little about the work behind the scenes. It is no mean job, being a member of the stage crew. Responsibility lies heavily upon their shoulders, but they accept it and do a splendid job.

Therefore, let us look beyond that which is apparent; let us remember those students who work unceasingly that we may have perfection in our school entertainments. To the members of the stage crew, Cameron Mumper, Bill Startzell, Lowell Peoples, Tom Heckendorn, Joe Heberling, Eugene Shick, Clarence Weber, and their faculty sponsor, Mr. Wilson, we offer our hearty thanks.

Ushers' Club . . .

Serving the school unselfishly . . . assisting at football and basketball games . . . splendid co-operation.

The Ushers' Club is another of those organizations which serve the school faithfully and unselfishly. It is their duty to be on hand at the football and basketball games, to usher spectators to their seats at all school programs, and to direct the visitors at all times. These boys do their work willingly and faithfully, without confusion.

This year the club has eighteen members, which at times seem hardly enough. They are under the direction of Mr. Nelson H. Boyd, who has capably supervised the boys for the past eight years. His leadership and understanding have been greatly appreciated by the club members.

The Ushers' Club does not follow a regular schedule for meeting, but, when it is necessary, an informal get-together is called in Mr. Boyd's upper office.

Science Club . . .

Studying the truth . . . preparing to become future scientists . . . learning the progress of science.

Much of a student's training is received outside the classroom. It is the major aim of the Science Club to give its members a better knowledge of scientific problems and of the progress of science in the world of today.

Since we are advancing so rapidly in the field of science, the club is able to present most interesting topics and experiments. Sometimes movies are shown, and occasionally a speaker is secured for the meetings.

The Science Club, which meets the second Tuesday of every month, is under the guidance of Mr. Sherk.

Latin Club . . .

LATIN CLUB . . . learning the habits and customs of the Roman people . . . producing a club paper . . . unique from all other clubs.

The Latin Club is one of the most outstanding and most active organizations in P.H.S. Under the auspices of the Roman gods, the club was organized in 1927 with the title, the Olympic Council. Since that time the club has followed certain traditions. Taking turns, the members at their homes, play host to the club each month. Students eligible for membership in the club are those taking Latin III and Latin IV. The first meeting of the year is held at P.H.S. and the following month at the home of Miss Brown, the club sponsor. One of the highlights of the meetings is the unique manner of having roll call. Each person present answers by a special Latin response, prepared beforehand. Entertainment is patterned after the life of the Ancient Romans. The concluding event of the evening is a delightfully served Roman lunch.

Twice a year, the members display their talents by publishing the club paper, "The Fulmen Jovis." The editors of the first issue are the Seniors while the Juniors are editors of the last issue. The gala event of the year is the Roman banquet. This picturesque convention gives the members a glimpse of Roman life for a brief time. Dressed in togas, reclining on luxurious couches, served by slaves, (Freshman Latin students) and dining on luscious Roman foods, the club fully enjoys this festive event. Thus the Latin Club has effectively combined amusement with education. Officers for the club are: Raymond Tronzo, President; Genevieve Himes, Vice President; Joyce Alexis, Secretary; Shirley Haire, Treasurer.

Le Cercle Francais . . .

Corresponding with French friends . . . singing the language . . . playing French games . . . stimulating interest in French customs.

Le Cercle Francais, popularly know as the French Club, originated in the year 1927. To be eligible for a membership in the club, a student must have completed his second year of French or be taking it at the time of membership. This year, French I students having an average of eighty-eight or above, are also eligible for membership.

The club meetings are held on the fourth Monday of every month in the homes of the various members. The business meetings are usually conducted in French. At these meetings, reports, dealing with some phase of French life, are prepared and presented by appointed committees. French games and songs are also part of the program.

The purpose of this organization is to promote a feeling of camaraderie among the members and to stimulate interest in the French language, customs, and culture.

The aim of the club is to interest other people in French and French-speaking nations, to provide an opportunity outside of class for speaking French, to encourage the members' interest in French, and to have a good time.

The faculty sponsor for the organization is Miss Helen Mankovich. The officers for the current year 1945-46 are:

President ..... Doris Beck
Vice President ..... Robert Colkitt
Secretary-Treasurer ..... William Ott

Spanish Club . . .

Speaking the language . . . studying Pan-American ideals . . . visiting with Latin-American friends.

El Club Espanol was organized four years ago by students who were studying Spanish. Its purpose is to further the interest of its members in the Spanish language and culture, as well as to promote better understanding of our Latin-American neighbors.

The meetings are held in the homes of club members on the fourth Tuesday of every month. The club purpose is carried out by conducting the business meeting in Spanish, playing games and singing Spanish songs, listening to records of Spanish conversation, working "Crucigrams" or crossword puzzles, and reading the Inter-American Magazine. At one of its meetings this year, the club had as its guest Charlotte Cooper, who told them many interesting things about Ecuador where she lived for seven years.

Members prepared a handbook which contains all the information pertaining to the club. They also purchased pins in the form of Mexican coins.

Another of this club's activities was the presentation of the Pan-American Day program for chapel in April.

The officers are: President, Louise Ferringer; Vice President, Don Schmidt; Secretary-Treasurer, Jeannine Means.

Through the Spanish Club, members do their small part to promote Pan-Americanism.

Commercial Club . . .

Discussing the problems of business . . . enjoying initiation . . . learning to be competent, dependable, and trustworthy.

The Commercial Club, which proudly boasts of sixty-four members, has the distinction of being the largest club in school.

The purpose of this club is to stimulate interest in the different types of commercial work, to encourage students to develop a better personality, and to promote a spirit of co-operation among its members.

During the progress of the meetings, the members study and interpret articles concerning problems of business. Frequently, talks are given by various members.

A social spirit, which is necessary in a business world, is encouraged in the monthly meetings. The minor social contacts, made possible during meetings of the Commercial Club, serve as a foundation for broader contacts to be made later. The annual Christmas party, which was held in December, was a great success.

Juniors, Seniors, and student teachers are eligible for membership in this club. The new members are initiated into the club each year.

A few of the theatrically inclined members sometimes entertain the rest by presenting a play.

This year the club was sponsored by Mrs. Smith and Miss Straitiff. The officers for the year were: James Crummy, President; Joan Dawson, Vice President; Barbara Ecklund, Secretary; Florence Edwards, Treasurer.

Victory Club . . .

Supporting Uncle Sam . . . promoting sale of stamps and bonds . . . learning responsibility in school.

To promote the sale of war stamps and bonds is the purpose of the Victory Club. This club was organized during the war when many students and teachers wished to purchase war stamps and bonds in order that the school might receive credit. Every Tuesday morning a meeting is held in the Typing Room where envelopes and papers are given out for the club members to record their sales. On Wednesday morning orders are taken. Between Wednesday and Thursday morning there is much activity going on in this club. A committee of cashiers count the money and make out orders for stamps to be purchased at the local post office.

The very efficient club sponsor is Miss Mabel Monroe who has done much to encourage the sale of stamps and bonds.

For the great service rendered to the school by this club, the students of P.H.S. express their appreciation.

The club officers are: President, Bettie Rank; Vice President, Barbara Ecklund; Cashiers: Helen Hobba, and Marilyn Sibley.

Camera Club . . .

Increasing their knowledge in photographic techniques . . . assisting Mr. Clark . . . learning to make reprints . . . developing films.

The Camera Club has continued through this school year with renewed vigor and activity. During the war, when photographic supplies were scarce, the members did not find much they could do; but, now that they are no longer restricted, they can find many opportunities to increase their knowledge of photography.

The Camera Club aims to satisfy the interest of the boys and girls who have a definite ambition to take better than ordinary pictures, as well as to keep the members informed of the advances in modern photographic technique. Club members are permitted to use the dark room for developing pictures. The chemicals and other supplies are furnished by the school.

Regular meetings are held in the evening of the first Monday in each month. Sometimes additional meetings are called after school. Anyone who has a definite interest in photography may apply for membership in the club.

A special tribute should be paid to Mr. Clark, the club sponsor, who has taken many of the pictures which appear in this issue of the Mirror and all of the pictures for the Hi-Lights.

The officers for the club are: Cameron Mumper, President; Nancy Murray, Vice President; Russell Ross, Secretary-Treasurer.

Future Farmers of America . . .

Improving their farming technique . . . studying farm problems . . . producing successful projects.

This year, for the first time, Punxsutawney High School offered a course in Agriculture. The students enrolled in this course proudly organized themselves into the Chuckberk Chapter of the Future Farmers of America, national organization of farm youth.

The main purposes of this club are to interest more people in farming and to improve the farming technique of those already interested.

By studying many phases of farming, the twenty-six members receive a thorough understanding of farm problems and of their solution. Members are kept busy with their varied farm projects in which they apply the theories previously studied. The projects include raising livestock and poultry, growing grain, and planting trees. For each successful project, the young farmers receive one credit.

The goal for each member is to earn the club emblem. F.F.A. pins were also purchased.

Mr. Mechling is the capable sponsor of this fine organization. The officers are: President, George Work; Vice President, Dick Yount; Secretary, Mildred Reed; Reporter, Donald Knox.

Through work and study in school and in their club, these young people are preparing to take their places as progressive and efficient farmers.

Aviation Club . . .

Building model planes . . . learning the latest in aeronautics . . . holding a contest each year.

Since the world is becoming "air minded," the Aviation Club began this year with renewed vigor. Most of the members of the club have secret plans for becoming pilots or for studying the theory of aeronautics. Although the club is practically made up of boys, we find two girls who would like to do a little "cloud-hopping." These two girls, Helen Orr and Doris Lettie, have the responsibility of keeping the club's Log. For those of you who are not air-minded, a Log is a record of achievements.

Each year the club holds a contest in the spring, to decide which member shall have the honor of having contributed the best model plane. The grand prize this year is a free ride at the Grube Airport.

During the course of the year, the club members were entertained by speakers who have made aviation their career. Moving pictures and special reports were also used to explain the "Whys and Wherefores" of Aviation.

Mr. Mitchell is sponsor of the club.

Homemaking Club . . .

Learning to "keep fit and look well" . . . learning to conserve food and clothing.

The purpose of the Homemaking Club is to provide an opportunity for training in leadership, in social poise, and in sharing various activities. These activities have included doing Red Cross work, assisting in serving dinners and teas, and in planning different types of social meetings for the club members.

The Punxsutawney Homemaking Club is an affiliated member of the Pennsylvania and the American Home Economics Associations. A point system has been established to provide a fair basis for the award of the national Home Economics' pin to those club members who have contributed most to the progress of the local club.

This year the activities of the club are under the sponsorship of Miss Pifer, Miss Hetager, and the Homemaking student teachers. Frances Smith, the President of the local club, is also Vice President of the district organization of High School Home Economics Clubs.

There is an annual meeting of the district organization at Indiana State Teachers' College, with our own club usually well represented. Plans are being made for members of our club to attend the state conference in Pittsburgh this spring. The other officers are: Helen Kennedy, Vice President; Romayne Marshall, Secretary; and Barabara Clark, Treasurer. Senior Tri-Hi-Y . . .

Participating in World Day of Prayer . . . establishing a spirit of good will . . . socializing.

The Senior Tri-Hi-Y strives to establish the spirit of good will and friendship among the girls. In order to carry out this objective, the organization holds bi-monthly meetings in the Y.M.C.A.

The girls are always ready and willing to serve; at every basketball or football game you will find them on duty selling candy, pennants, pencils, or corsages. This selling adds sums to their sweater fund.

As a special incentive to challenge the group, a Bible Study Contest is held in February and March. These meetings brought forth some interesting and instructive discussions. In March, the members of the Senior Tri-Hi-Y had charge of a World Day of Prayer in the school assembly. They explained the significance of the day and led the student body in singing hymns.

The club has had frequent social affairs, among which was a Valentine Dance, held in the Y.M.C.A.

The capable sponsor for the club is Mrs. West. Officers for the year are: Bonnalyn Means, President; Mae Amundson, Vice President; Barbara Downie, Secretary; and Dorothy Barnoff, Treasurer.

Doing good deeds . . . loyal to friends . . . ready to help.

The Sophomore Tri-Hi-Y is an organization of Sophomore girls whose purposes are to develop a fine Christian character in each of its members and to be of use to the school and the community. This club, which was formed six years ago, has become increasingly popular with the girls.

This group meets two Thursdays of each month at the Central Y.M.C.A. A committee, appointed at the beginning of the year, is in charge of the program for each meeting. Members study the Bible and have speakers on subjects which interest them.

Not to be outdone by the older clubs, the Sophomore Tri-Hi-Y has been the sponsor of several dances. They have also held tureen dinners and a rummage sale.

As part of their program of being useful to the community, these girls distributed baskets of food and toys to needy families at Christmas.

The club sponsor is Miss Marjorie Straitiff. The officers are: President, Barbara Boyd; Vice President, Jean Reid; Secretary, Mary Ellen Tibby; Treasurer, Doramae Hetrick.

This club makes a worthy contribution to the life of the school and community.

Freshman Tri-Hi-Y . . .

Freshman Tri-Hi-Y . . . exciting work . . . pleasant friendships . . . willing to be of service to the school and community.

The Freshman Tri-Hi-Y consists of forty members this year. Using their slogan, "pure thoughts, pure words, pure actions" as a guide, the girls try their best to live up to the high standards expected of Tri-Hi-Y members. Each of the members endeavors to live up to the Tri-Hi-Y pledge.

"To build a better world,
Ready I must be,
In the place where life doth find me,
Holding fast, yet pushing on,
Into glorious adventures,
You, and I, and God."

The group meets every other Monday evening in the local Y.M.C.A. Each program is under the leadership of an appointed committee who plan the entertainment for the evening. Group singing and performances, by our future concert pianists, hold a high place in the program. Many interesting discussions are held at the meetings, and various entertainments are enjoyed.

During the holidays a very successful dance was held, which proved to be a delightful affair. It was the "Plaid Skirt and Shirt" dance with Harry James, Perry Como and Vaughn Monroe doing the honors on the juke box. Then, too, there was the informal initiation of the new members, which was a howling success.

Mix all the meetings with a dash of gossip, a pinch of laughter(with a serious side, too) and you'll have the Freshman Tri-Hi-Y girls rolled into one grand group.

This year's sponsor is Mrs. Smith. The officers are: President, Shelly Schrecongost; Vice President, Lois Geist; Secretary, Leba Gross; Treasurer, Nancy Rumbarger.

Sextet . . .

Sparkling voices . . . talented singers . . . willing workers . . . deserving of praise.

The Sextet, under the capable supervision of Miss Esther J. Davis, is one of the outstanding musical organizations in our high school. The girls have met regularly for study and practice and have proved themselves talented singers. Throughout the year, they participated in many chapel programs and in addition, gave their services to various clubs in the community. In February, they presented one of their most important and colorful programs when they sang current tunes by masters of modern music. The Progressive Study Club invited them to sing at one of their meetings. The contribution was so greatly appreciated that the club requested encores. The captivating voices are set off by the girls' refreshing and cheerful appearance. These accomplished singers, some of whom plan to continue their study of music after graduation from high school, are deserving of commendation. To a popular and meritorious group, Jean Lyke, Barbara Downie, Marilyn Brown, Lois McCreight, Barbara Dixon, Jean Redding, and their sponsor, Miss Davis, we wish the best of luck.

The Choir . . .

Tone and quality . . . ready and willing to provide music . . . largest singing unit in the school.

We are proud of our Choir. It is not only the largest singing unit in our school, but also is one of the most active organizations.

Music by the Choir is an integral part of the Christmas Program, Baccalaureate Service, and Commencement Program held in the auditorium each year.

The Choir is composed of students who desire an opportunity to develop their skill in singing. Try-outs are held at the beginning of the year and those who pass the test become members of the Choir. To achieve the best results in singing, attention is placed on tone, quality, word expression, and breathing.

It is through consistent work and excellent cooperation that the Choir is such a success. Every Tuesday and Friday practice is held under the capable supervision of Miss Esther Jane Davis. The group meets regularly and studies diligently at each meeting.

An outgrowth of the choir is the Girls' Sextet and the Boys' Double Quartet.

Since its formation eight years ago the Choir has become an increasingly important part of our school life.

Officers for the current year are: President, Lois McCreight; Vice President, Marilyn Brown; Secretary, Phyllis Gahagan.

Senior Band . . .

OUR BAND . . . intricate formation and drills . . . snappy marches . . . splendid cooperation.

The Band this year was undoubtedly the best in the history of our school. We boast of a fine, well-drilled musical organization. We are, however, not unmindful of the fact that much of the excellence is due to the fine leadership of the director, Mr. Beck, who, by his constant interest and enthusiasm, set a standard for us all to follow.

The Band performed intricate drills at all football games. We feel sure that their playing "The Notre Dame Song" had a share in the victory at the DuBois-Punx'y game.

Members of the Band accompanied the veterans at the Armistice Day parade and willingly helped the Firemen with a very successful Halloween celebration.

The Band members have sponsored several community waste paper drives. With the money received, they added precious sums for the purchase of new uniforms. They hope to appear in their dazzling uniforms next fall.

The successful drills performed at the football games are due to the untiring effort of Miss Eichler.

To the Band of 1946, we extend our wishes for a happy and successful year.

Junior Band . . .

A flare of trumpets . . . a roll of drums . . . earnest workers . . . advancing rapidly.

One of the newest musical organizations in Punxsutawney High School is the Junior Band under the direction of Mr. William Beck. This group is composed of those students who take instrumental lessons and who hope to join the Senior Band in the future. It was organized by Mr. Beck in the spring of 1945.

The primary purposes of the Junior Band are to accustom its members to playing with a group and to provide a feeder for the Senior Band. As members become skilled on their instrument, they are transferred to the Senior Band.

This organization practices every Thursday afternoon. It has appeared in chapel several times and has always received hearty approval. Next fall it will march with the older band at the football games.

After the new uniforms arrive for the Senior Band, the Junior Band will receive the present ones. Its members worked side by side with Senior Band members in the paper drives to secure funds for new uniforms.

We are proud of this organization which has already earned itself a place in the musical activities of P.H.S.

In victory or defeat, loyalty still is the song we raise to Punxsutawney High School and its teams. We realize that victory is not the important thing, but that athletics offer far more in way of recreational values. A healthy mind and a healthy body, the ability to attain skill and rhythm in work, good sportsmanship, and co-operation, all help prepare us physically and mentally for the tasks of the future. It is with deep loyalty that we pay tribute to our coaches. our football and basketball teams, our cheerleaders, drum majorettes, flag swingers, gym teams and the many other groups which are included in our plan for sports. To you, the song we raise, is yet one of loyalty and trust.

Basketball . . .

Splendid sportsmanship . . . spirit of friendly rivalry . . . fast moving . . . smooth and tricky.

The basketball season closed with the same intense interest with which it opened. Like the football team, only more so, the P.H.S. Cage Club was unpredictable. Despite the fact that the "Cagers" had only five victories against their twelve losses, our 1946 Basketball team battled bravely against great odds.

The hi-light of the season was the exciting Brookville game. At the end of the first half the visitors were leading 22 to 12. However, the "Chucks" returned to the floor for the second half completely rejuvenated, and, after an exciting exhibition of fast team work, topped the visitors 30 to 29. The visitors made a basket just as the whistle blew; but, because there was a disagreement in the decision, the referee was given authority to decide. Brookville was granted a one-point victory, 31 to 30.

Another basketball game that proved to be thrilling was the second match between DuBois and Punx'y. Through the early part of the game, Punx'y raced ahead by a few points, and, at times, even tied with the Beavers. Thrills upon thrills came when the lead changed hands three times in the last two minutes of the game. The crowd either screamed or groaned every time a basket was made. Finally DuBois steamed ahead by five points, but only to have Punx'y gain two more. Thus an exciting game ended with the "Chucks" losing—27 to 30.

The team trained faithfully during the entire season and is deserving of our highest praise.

Junior Varsity Basketball . . .

Creditable showing . . . a will to win . . . steady aggressiveness.

Starting off the season by uncorking some very clever passing and floorwork, the Junior Varsity team gave us something to remember. Out of nineteen starts, they lost only five games.

Most of the games were played as preliminaries to the regular games. Although these contests usually are not too closely followed, this year they gave the fans many exciting and absorbing moments. Some of the games were nip and tuck throughout, with one team and then the other leading. Whether they won or lost, we are justly proud of our Junior Varsity.

With the promise of a strong varsity team for next year, the Junior Varsity completed a highly successful season.

FOOT

With high hopes and grim determination, the 1946 football squad pushed through a trying schedule and arose victorious three times. Usually on the losing side, the "Chucks" with a sudden surge of power, ended the season in a blaze of glory. The record books fairly hummed with the surprise victory over DuBois. Before the season's record crowd of 4,000 football fans, the squad added a fitting climax with a 32-0 score. The passing, blocking, tackling, rushing, everything in the book of rules, was maneuvered with perfection. Cheerleaders . . .

Dependable . . . peppy . . . leading the cheers . . . adding zest to the pep rallies

Rain or shine, warm or cold, you'll always find the Cheerleaders out there in front leading the football or basketball players on to victory.

These well trained performers work the year around to attain such skills as they exhibit at all our athletic contests. Ever smiling and ever faithful, these girls deserve our highest praise. They have won the admiration of the entire school for their pep and determination.

Much thanks should be given their director, Miss Rentschler, who through her untiring efforts made it possible for the girls to obtain the skill and rhythm which they possess today.

Drum Majorettes . . .

Rhythm . . . twirling ability . . . skill . . . adding zip to the band.

A pleasing sight to high school students is that of their high stepping, broad smiling Drum Majorettes. These girls have snappy rhythm, twirling and tumbling ability which add color and zip to the Band. Baton twirling requires a great deal of skill for it means hours of constant practice.

These peppy girls are led by Doris Lettie, the champion twirler of the team. To Marie Deahl go the laurels for tumbling. Her backbends are one of the wonders of our high school.

The students of P.H.S. heartily congratulate this team of hard-working girls for their faithful and capable performances. Hats off! to Miss Rentschler who made it possible for the girls to present a wonderful appearance at all times.

Girls' Gym Team . . .

The Gym Team consists of a group of girls who are especially talented in dancing, tumbling, marching and other gymnastic skills. The group was organized last year to provide entertainment between the halves of our athletic events. At the end of each year these girls form the framework for a Physical Education Demonstration which is presented for the parents. The Gym Team is a popular organization with the school and the public. They, too, are under the capable direction of Miss Rentschler.

Intra-Mural Managers . . .

This group comprises the "brains" for all girls' intra-mural athletics. It is their duty to officiate, score, time, arrange game schedules and manage equipment. Sometimes they are even called upon to act as substitutes in the game. Often the work is most confusing, but it affords an excellent opportunity for developing leadership.

Credit and praise should be given this group for duties they so willingly performed.

Lauretta Heitzenrater, Theola Payne, Lucille Hockin

Swiss Flag Swingers . . .

Grace . . . ease . . . flowing flags . . . adding color to the parade.

Something new has been added—and it certainly proved its worth! The Swiss Flag Swingers is a new organiaztion in our high school. The three girls, Lauretta Heitzenrater, Lucille Hockin, and Theola Payne, spent many hours of practice in order to develop the grace and ease needed in their work.

The art of flag swinging requires skill. As in baton twirling, much time must be spent in practice.

These girls, with their flowing flags, have given new color to our band drills.

They are under the direction of Miss Rentschler.

The underclassmen of P.H.S. study industriously so that someday they too may graduate. They strive daily to keep their goal in view. In the classrooms, they go to work with a will to obtain this end. In the clubs, they never shirk their duties. In athletics, they want wholesome recreation to adapt them to the trials of life. They aim to keep their desires of achievement aloft, but nevertheless attainable. The one purpose is to live such a useful and purposeful life that they may raise the standards of the world to a new, long-hoped for height. So to these underclassmen, who are "standing by," we offer our places in hope that they may uphold the ideals that have been set by us and others who have gone before.

We, the Junior Class, are eagerly looking forward to becoming Seniors and assuming the responsibility that was theirs. As a class, we have worked diligently in the hope of realizing our ambition. We feel well equipped to meet the problems which will confront us next year.

Already plans for the future begin to occupy our minds. We are the ones to "carry on." We know we can and will!

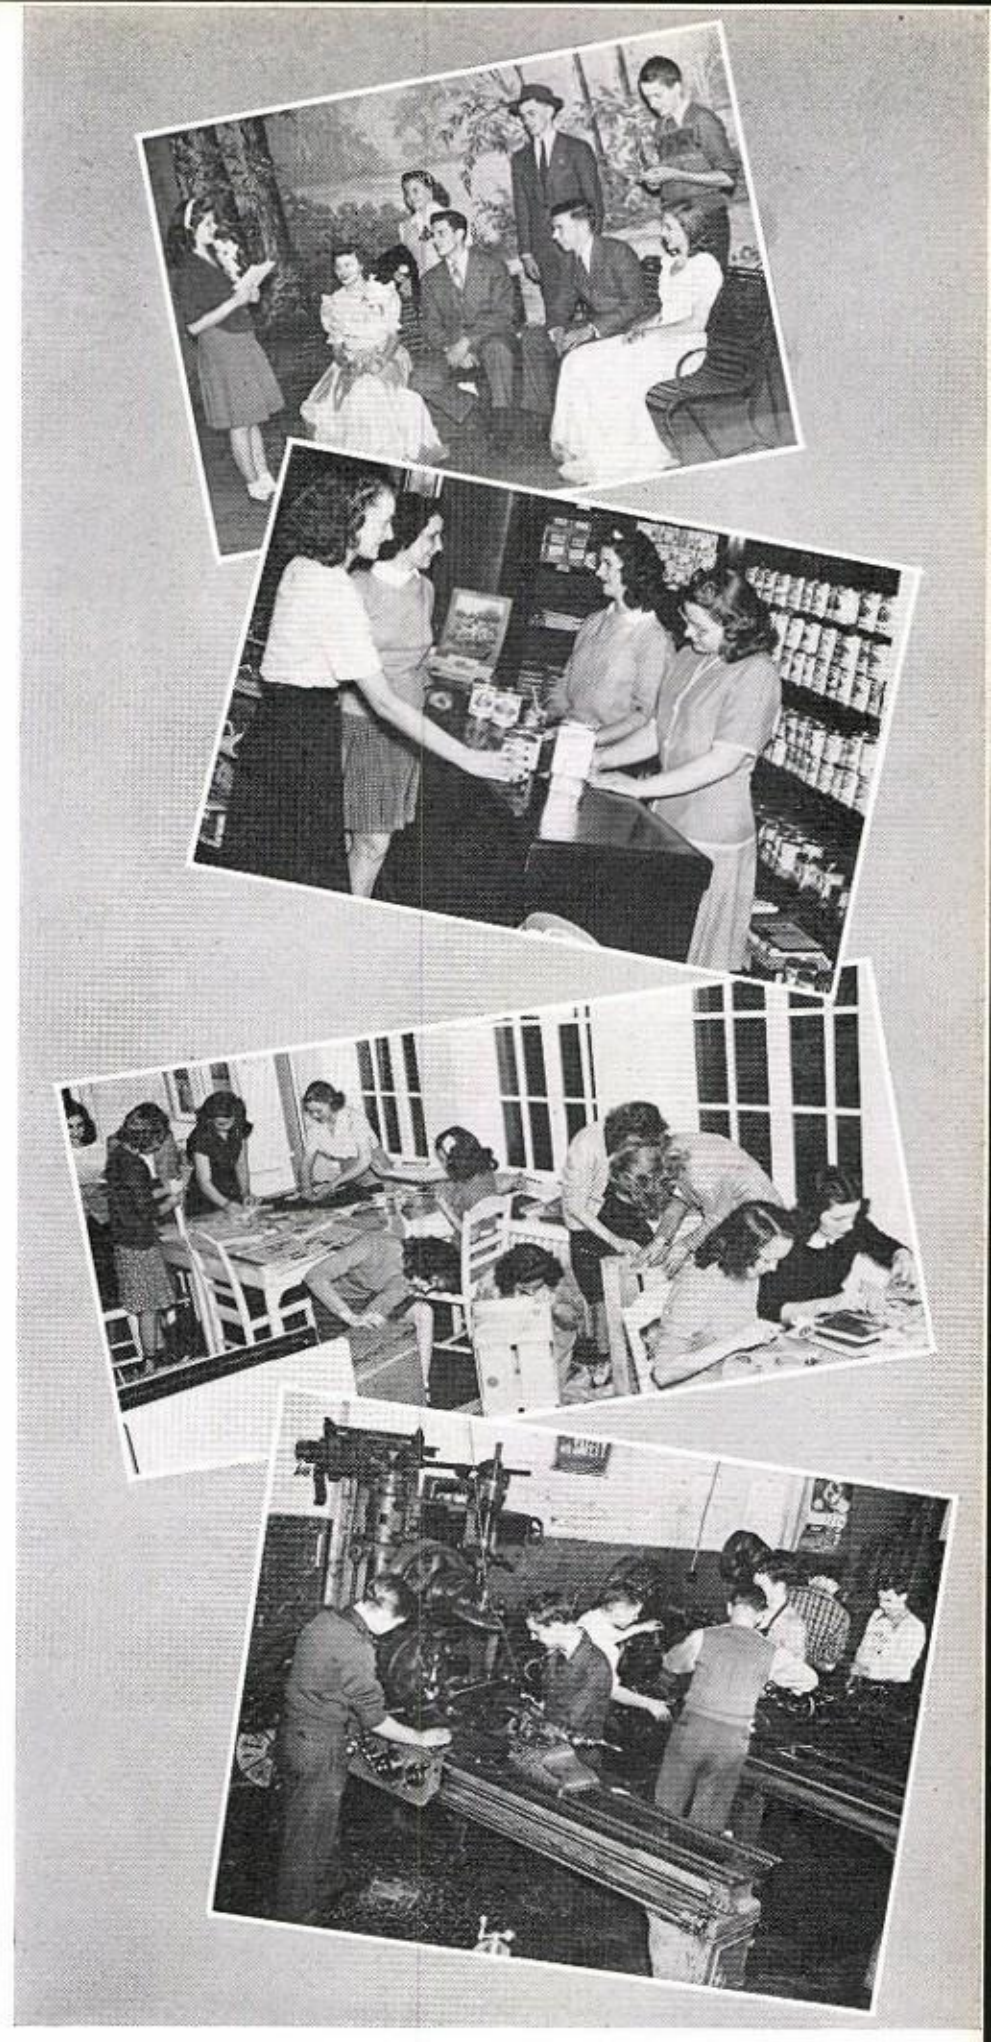
Calendar . . .

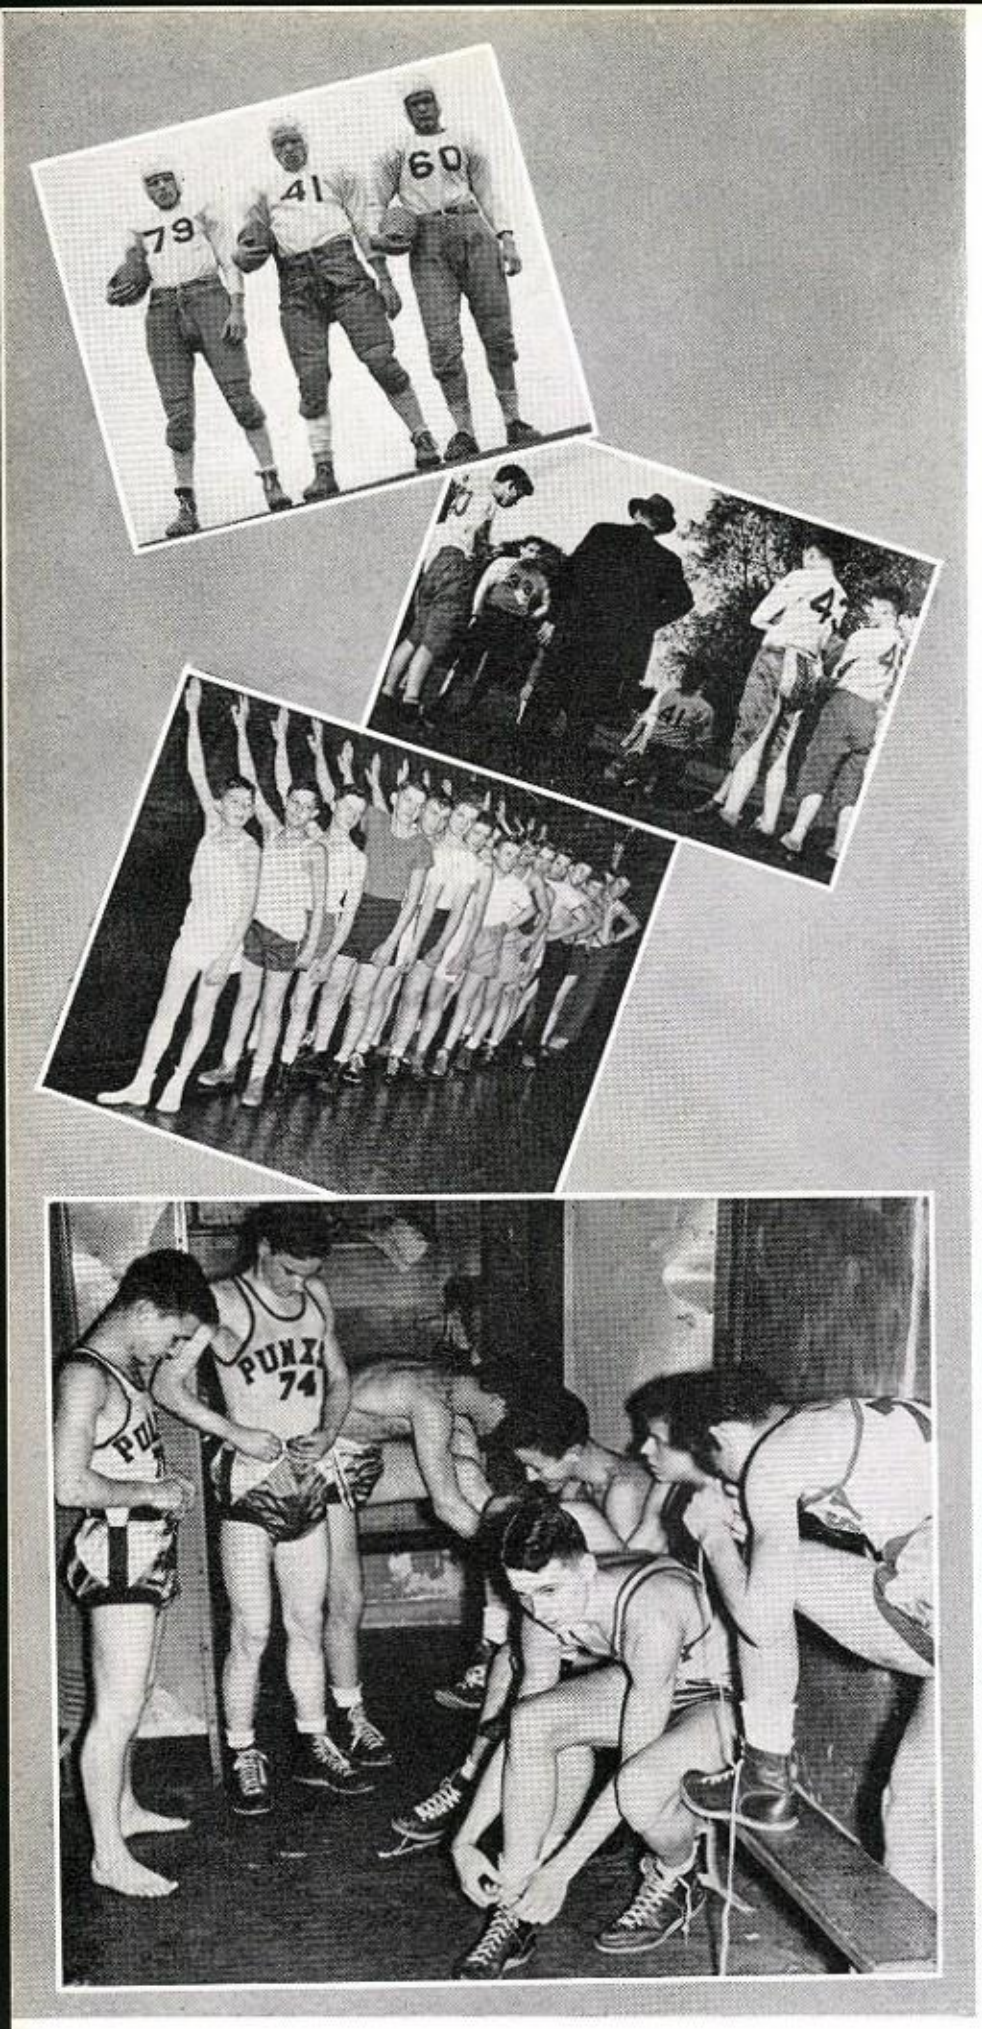
September

4. Dear, old, golden school days are here again. Don't the Freshmen look lost?
7. Big day! Pep rally and football game. Punx'y 19, Ridgway 0. Didn't our new cheerleaders look keen! At least Sophomores can do something—yell!
10. Juggling in chapel. How would you boys like that for a profession?
13. How do you like the new style—slacks and high heels? Don't shudder, girls! It's only for Senior Tri-Hi-Y initiation.
14. Rain and football games are not a very good combination. The fans who attended the Clearfield game can tell you that. Our team swam for a final score of 0-0.
21. Pictures in chapel. We really should thank Mr. Clark for his service. Groan! Too bad we lost that Kittanning game. We are glad, though, that we now can attend out-of-town games by bus.
27. Oh happy day! We got our first edition of the Hi-Lights. No home work done in study periods today.
28. Why the long faces? Oh, Punx'y lost another game. This time to Curwensville 27-7. Watch out next year, Curwensville!

October

4. Well, the first month of school is gone now. Doesn't seem possible, does it?
5. "Three's A Crowd" provided hilarious entertainment for the P.H.S. students. Hats off to the cast!
12. First Senior class meeting of the year. The following officers were elected: President, Gene Heitzenrater; Vice President, Sam Scava; Secretary, Barbara Ecklund; Treasurer, Bert States.
13. Coach Coleman took some of the football squad to Pittsburgh to see the Pitt-Michigan State game. Warren Huey, a former P.H.S. football hero, played for Michigan. Jack Barilar, who had been our cheerleader for two years, is now a Pitt cheerleader.
16. Hi-Lights again! Watch the kids scan that paper eagerly! Good work, staff!
17. The major P.H.S. clubs are now organized and ready for the year's activities.
22. Seniors are busy giving name cards. You really feel like Seniors at last. Isn't it wonderful? The Juniors voted for their officers today: President, Paul Nase; Vice President, Dick Reitz; Secretary, Myrna Depp; Treasurer, Nancy Barry.
24. The volleyball tournament began today. There have been some exciting games.
25. Oh! Oh! At last report cards. The old familiar words were heard again, "I'm really going to work the next six weeks." (We wonder?)
26. The Sophomores elected their officers today after assembly program. They are:





President, Joe Harrick; Vice President, Bill Cole; Secretary, Barbara Boyd; Treasurer, John Davis.

We have a record to be proud of—three brothers on the first string at the starting line-up against Osceola Mills. Bill, Tom, and "Red" helped immensely in our second win this year, 21-6.

29. We had our second professional program today. V. Malik Verda held our excited attention in "North of Bagdad." He drove home anew the freedom, liberty, and justice of America. Come back again, Mr. Verda.

    Home rooms selected a boy and girl for the dance committee. Watch for the first dance. It's bound to be good.

30. We extend a hearty greeting to our former teachers, returning from the Armed Services. Welcome Mr. Schilling, Mr. King, and Mr. Wood! We hope you are as glad to be back as we are to have you.
30. Punx'y celebrated Halloween with a big parade. The school band, majorettes, and cheerleaders led it. Three cheers for the band, which collected 2½ tons of scrap paper. They will receive approximately $350.00 toward the purchase of new uniforms. Good work!

November

1. Did the boys think today was Saturday —or could the fact that it is the first day of hunting season have something to do with the absentee list?
2. The hospital, police, and school presented a safety pageant, which, we hope, will cause the students to be more careful in their driving and in other work.
5. Mr. Homer A. Rodeheaver, the well-known evangelist, sang and played his trombone for the students. The song "Sing, and Smile and Pray" called for our best singing ability.
6. Wonder what the results of the I.Q. tests are? Perhaps it's just as well we don't know. This way we can go right on thinking how brilliant we are.
7. Haven't we been having perfect weather? Oh, let's hope it holds out until after our all-important Armistice Day game with DuBois.
9. The students revealed their lung power at the pep rally. Here's hoping we do that well, or even better, at the DuBois game, Monday. And boys, didn't you know whistling is forbidden in the auditorium? Now, really!
12. This date needs no reminding. Who could ever forget the DuBois game? Punx'y won the Beachuck trophy first because of her 32-0 win. Oh wonderful game!
14. It was hard for the students to become accustomed to school routine today after the four-day vacation. Aren't you delighted about the game?

16. In Assembly today, we saw a movie very appropriate for the beginning of China War Relief. Miss Thompson gave some explanatory remarks before the reel.
17. We wish to welcome Mr. Beam, who has recently returned after serving in the Navy for 42 months.
21. Thanksgiving vacation—one more thing to be thankful for.
24. The Turkey Gobbler's Strut started off the school dances for this school year. The students thought the entertainment was excellent.
28. In assembly today, our professional speaker, Major Norman Imrie, outlined the role America must play in peace.
30. Already we miss the weekly football games, but cheer up kids, basketball season will be starting soon. End of 2nd six weeks grading period. It's too late now, kids!

December

3. A familiar face is with us again. Mr. Caylor is back teaching after serving in the Army for 2½ years.
7. "The Soft-Boiled Egg," a Thespian play, kept the student body in stitches. Wasn't it a scream!
10. Jack Rank's presentation of a Shakespearean three-act comedy, "The Taming of the Shrew," was exceptionally good. We didn't know that one person could take the part of so many characters.
11. Report cards again! Oh, I'm so disappointed. Well, next time, maybe—!
11. Not such a good start! We lost our first basketball game to Indiana. 34-24. Did you notice the added vim in the cheering! Thanks to the Pep Club!
12. Gee! The classes seem empty! Everybody must have decided to take a rest in bed. Couldn't be flu, could it?
14. No school today! Güess the flu is too much for us. No game with Bradford either.
18. I hear those gentle voices groaning, "Oh! My, Oh!" Lost to Sykesville. 37-15.
21. The Christmas program was as impressive as ever. Those carols by the choir and sextette were very beautiful. Another basketball game was a victim of the flu. This time, Brockway.
28. The former basketball stars of P.H.S. haven't lost their skill. They beat us 36-29.

January

2. It seems strange to be back in school after after nearly two weeks vacation. Oh, how we hate to get up in the morning!
3. Many students are trying out for parts in the high school play entitled, "Sixteen in August."
8. Rah! Rah! Rah! We won our first basketball game tonight against Sykesville. The final score was 26-20. Something new has been added to the cheering section. Nancy Murray makes the cheerleaders number eight. Lots of luck, Nancy.

10. We would like to welcome Elwood Brunner, Bob Hockinson, Jack London, and Charles Stoops, former service men, who have returned to complete their high school courses.
14. Mournful faces seen around school today. Guess no one likes exams.
18. Another chapel play presented by Thespians. "The Unicorn and a Fish" was a delightful comedy.
21. Judge Bale's talk on juvenile delinquency should be very profitable to the students. He brought out some new points in connection with youths who have gone sadly astray.
24. A successful paper drive was conducted by the Junior and Senior Bands. New uniforms will appear shortly.
25. The students appreciated the delightful program presented by the Junior and Senior Bands. Thank you, Mr. Beck, for your worthwhile contribution.
26. Mr. Schilling and Mr. Oelschlager resigned from Punxsutawney High School Faculty. Mr. Fullerton took Mr. Schilling's place as teacher of history. Welcome, Mr. Fullerton.
29. Report cards. School is now half over. Better get to work. Wouldn't it be nice to have an average of 95% just once? But, sigh, guess those are for people like Joyce.
31. DuBois tried to get even with us for defeating them in football and basketball. They won the basketball game! Darn! 36-20.

February

1. Group singing has become quite popular in assembly. We are proud of our sextet and soloists.
   Many students of P.H.S. attended the Brookville-Clearfield game on our gym. Brookville won. 49-25.
2. Groundhog Day. Six more weeks of winter. Br-rr. How cold the weather!
5. Everyone seems perked up this morning. We won the game at Clearfield last night. Yea Team! 35-32.
6. Professors Carey and Kuhner of Clarion State Teachers' College gave interesting addresses.
7. Shh! Don't tell anyone. DuBois 30, Punx'y 27. That was purty close.
14. Valentine Day. That used to be an important day in bygone years, but now since we are grown up—well.
15. Here's one never-to-be-forgotten game. Punx'y fans insist the victory was ours, but officials—! Well, Brookville 31, Punx'y 30.
18. Punx'y 39 and Brockway 16. That's something?
22. "Christmas at Home" by Thespians. We enjoyed seeing a tree and presents, even though Christmas is past. Some new talent discovered. The audience laughed loud and frequently. Quiet! Don't say a word to anyone. Clearfield 58, Punx'y 33.

27. The girls are glad to see Miss Rentschler back after a week's absence. The study periods, however, came in very handy.
28. High school play matinee — "Sixteen in August." Entertaining play involving problem child and problem parents. Many amusing and humorous incidents.

March

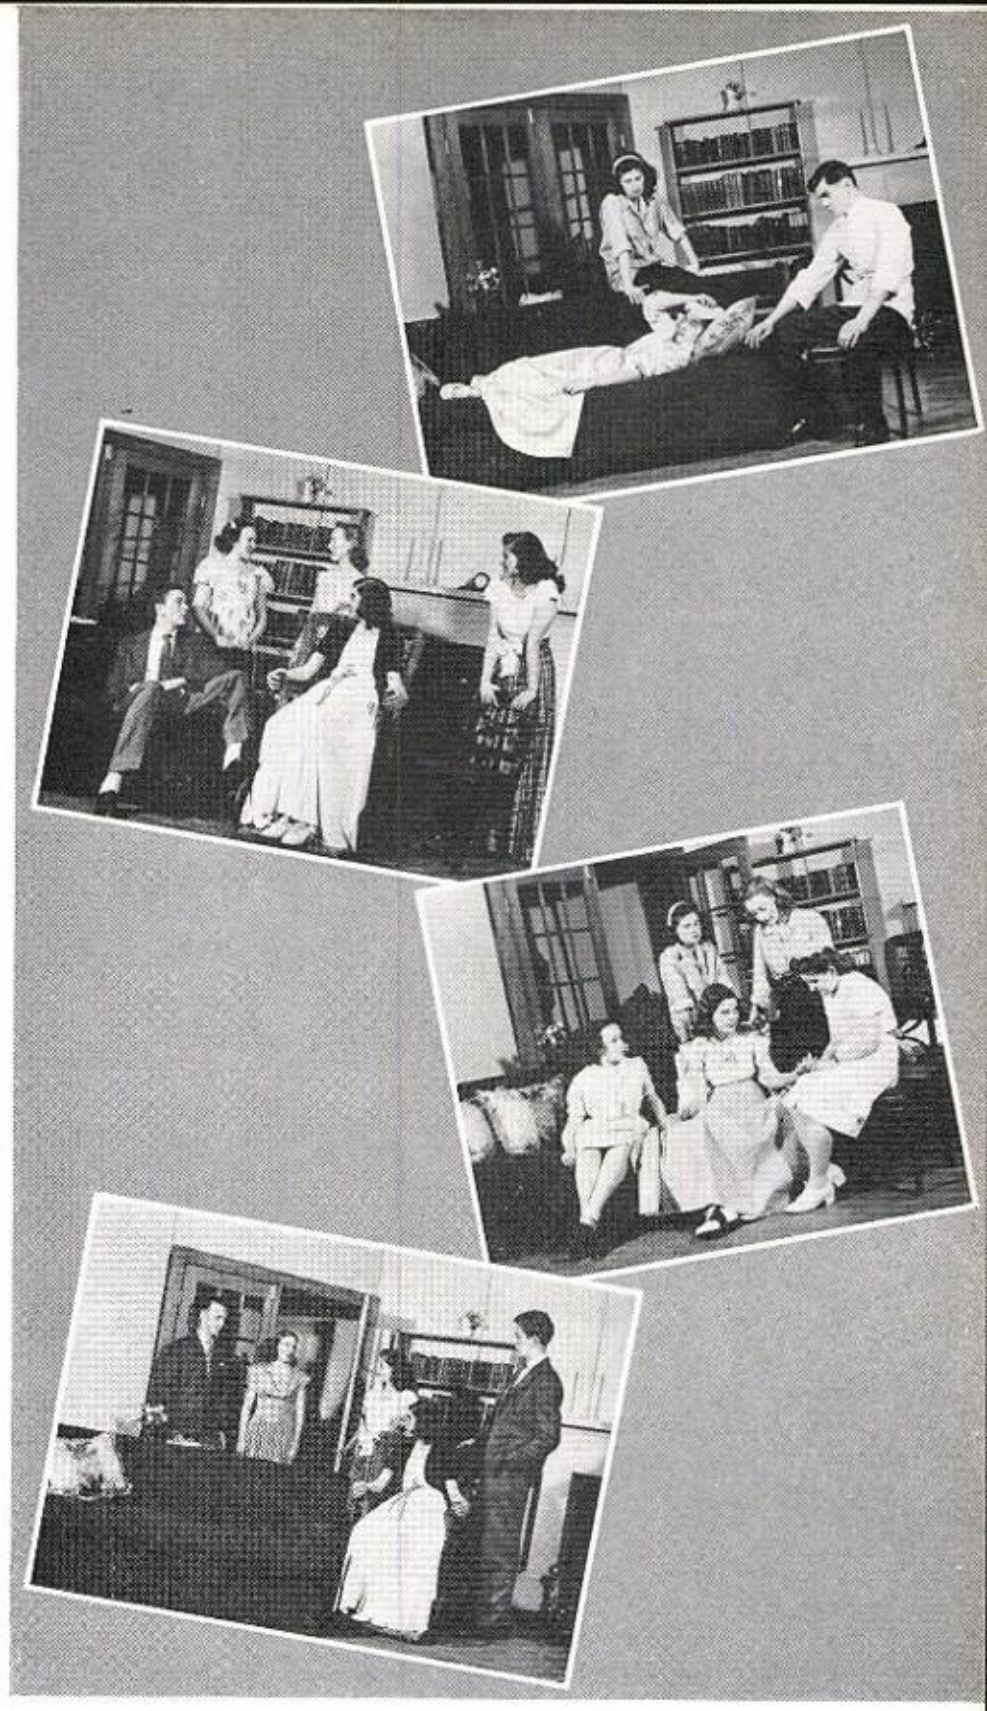
1. March came in like a meek little lamb! A mathematical genius, Herbert Neefe, kept us on our toes in chapel. What a mind!
6. Students voted on the bond issue for Punx'y flood control. It went over with a wham!
7. Beautiful day. Signs of spring fever appearing among the students. Groundhog, do your stuff.
8. World Day of Prayer. An impressive assembly program was sponsored by the Senior Tri-Hi-Y.
13. Report cards. Oh, Oh, Oh.
15. A Thespian play, "Ten-Room Cottage," presented in chapel.
17. St. Patrick's Day. Everyone in school must be Irish. Anyway, green's supposed to be easy on the eyes, or is it?
22. School dance. Bet grandma didn't dance like that.
29. Student show in chapel was postponed.

April

1. April Fool's Day. Don't let them kid you.
5. P.H.S. band concert. We're proud of our band.
12. "The Bride Wore Red Pajamas," presented by Thespians. What a bride!
15. Harry C. White at assembly.
17. End of fifth grading period. Shucks! Back to the old grind again.
18. Easter vacation at last. Student show in chapel.
23. Now if this were only last week.
26. Movies in chapel.

May

3. Again movies were enjoyed in assembly. Sophomore Dance. Oh, those Sophs. How these children do grow up. Quite a shindig! !
10. Junior prom. What music! What gowns! What girls!



10. Kid Day. Can't kid me, I know you. Seniors can act natural today.

15-16. Senior exams. We shall say no more!

17. Class Day. My education's over. I've had enough book larnin'. Senior reception. Climax or just anti-climax? Here's where the Seniors shine.
20. Baccalaureate. Proud, serious, solemn, the Seniors. It's almost over.
23. Commencement. Goal attained at last. It's over now. Wish we'd be seeing you next September.
29. End of 6th grading term.
31. Memorial Day, truly a day for remembrance.

June

3. Report cards. Last day. We'll see you next year.

Prophecy . . .

Ladies and Gentlemen:

This is Bill Heckendorn bringing you an eye witness account of the first reunion in ten years of the Class of 1946. We are gathered in the Blue Room of the Hotel Astor-Ritz, which is owned by Robert Grube, a member of the 1946 Class. The ground on which the hotel is built was surveyed by Charles Miller. The Astor-Ritz is the most exclusive hotel in Punxsutawney.

As I stand here, I can see many of our prominent citizens who were members of the '46 Class. Seated directly below me is Barbara Dixon, who is one of the leading stars of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and Anna Ruth Nairn, first flutist with the New York Symphony Orchestra. Also among the group is Guy Wilson, eminent lawyer; Bert States, world famous journalist; and Lavelle Conrad, chief weather forecaster of the tri-state area. It is only because of his ability to forecast the weather that we have such a beautiful evening for our banquet.

It seems as though the entire staff from the newly erected Punxsutawney Children's Hospital is here. Dr. May D. Amundson, a child specialist, is one of this state's leading doctors. The nurses from the hospital are: Betty Alabran, Eleanor Hadden, Jean Peterson, and Genevieve Chambers. Joanne Jordan, a dietician at the hospital, is known for her research in diets for diabetics. Ramona DeLaney, a nurse from South America, prefers warm, tropical climates to Punxy's rather cold one. She is having a wonderful reunion with X-Ray technicians Bonnalyn Means, Olive Miller, and Doris Beck. There are shouts of delight as three of the girls with whom she trained, join the group. They are: Freda Rose, Alma McMillen, and Doris Weaver.

Helen Kolesar is looking very refreshed and happy and indeed she should. She holds the position as chief tester of Beauty Rest Matresses. Sitting next to Helen is Marjorie Blair, owner of the Model Dress Shoppe.

Cameron Mumper and Mary Louise Gaffney have just arrived. Miss Gaffney is the famous author of the magazine articles, "It's A Short Step To Height." Mr. Mumper, a mechanical engineer, has just completed plans for construction of a huge bridge to be erected across the Mahoning River.

The menu for tonight includes chicken which was provided by Budd Homan and George Bish, local farmers. The favors were also presented by members of our class. They were painted by Dorothy Lyle and Clarabelle Murray.

The entertainment is about to begin, and Jim Crummy, the toastmaster, has advanced to the speaker's platform. First on the program is the renowned radio star, Jean Lyke. Her number is "I Remember When." Another famous singer present is Ella Marie Becker. Jim Crummy is now introducing D. Paul Leasure Jr., the main speaker of the evening. Paul, who has just returned from his globe-trotting expeditions, will speak on "The Blessings of Home." Entertainers who will follow Mr. Leasure are: Ted Weaver, famous comedian, and Betty Jean Kann, who will play a clarinet solo entitled "The Flight of the Bumble Bee." Later in the evening, Barbara Downie is going to enact a scene from "Twenty-six in August."

While the guests are filing into the ballroom, I shall tell more about the members of our class who are present tonight. There is Joyce Alexis, an occupational therapist in a large hospital in Wisconsin. (In case you are wondering, we will explain that a therapist heals through occupying the hands). Sam Scava, a research chemist on atomic energy, has just walked into the ballroom. The room was decorated by Nancy Torrence.

Late as ever, Dr. Raymond Tronzo has just arrived. He flew from Johns-Hopkins Hospital where he is the chief of staff.

Ready to assist Dr. Tronzo is Maxine Bush, a leading mortician. She is often referred to as "The Friendly Mortician." Dancing gaily by are Sgt. and Mrs. Gene Heitzenrater. Sgt. Heitzenrater is known as the "Model Sergeant." Mrs. Heitzenrater is the former Marilu Gumbert.

Music for tonight's dance is furnished by John Capitanelli's band, featuring Mary Ann Harrick as vocalist. On the dance floor are many people we have seen before. They are: John Hazlett, noted novelist; Ed Barilar, professional football player for the Cleveland

Rams; Louise Ferringer, expert hair stylist; and Beverly Wineberg, proprietor of the Smart Set Shop.

On the far side of the room is Norma Allenbaugh who recently opened a chain of ultra-modern beauty shops throughout Pennsylvania. Among her operators are: Lena Bango, who is known for her good nature; Madeline Bartholomew, who specializes in facial beauty; Lois Sprow and Jean Wyant, leading beauticians.

We have several business men here tonight who are holding a conversation concerning business prospects. Jack Anderson, the newly appointed manager of Widmann and Teah, seems to be winning his point by his forceful words. Perry Lester, recently discharged from the army, is listening intently so that he can get back into the swing of things. Another member of that group is William Byerly, owner of a large fleet of trucks. His assistant, Richard Anderson, was not able to attend this evening because he is on the West Coast on business.. Mr. Byerly's chief machinist is Harry Miller and his chief auto mechanics are Ronald McQuown and Leroy Sprankle.

Among our former classmates who are now in New York, are Denzel Wilson, an arranger of musical scores, and Emogene Doverspike, a beautician. Also from New York are Angeline Certo and Loretta Guzzy, librarians at the University of New York. Arthur Edwards, that Wall Street speculator who has made thousands on the stock market, has taken a much needed rest in order to come.

For one evening at least, naval officers and enlisted men are on equal terms. They are: Lt. Bill Cowan, (j g), Lt. Commander John Smith, Machinist's Mate Elvin Depp, and Seaman First Class Jerry Parente. Other members of the Armed Forces present are: Bill McGlumphy and Harold Pearce of the Army; and Lt. Herman Dinger, a pilot. Our only graduate from West Point is Major Clinton Bargerstock.

This is Jim Bamford's last night in Punx'y for a long time. He is leaving tomorrow for the West where he is planning to construct a series of super highways. One of his assistants is Russell Pifer. David Means, a mechanical engineer, is working on a device which will keep cars from crashing into each other. As a chemical engineer, Robert Senser is associated with Dupont De Nemours and Company. Two other distinguished members of the class are Fred Barclay and Ronald Lasher. They are at the head of one of the biggest architectural firms in the United States. Among their numerous secretaries and stenographers are: Lois Keck, Joyce Miller, Stella Poremba, Dorothy Deeley, and Thelma Bair. Ellen Bair was married a few years ago after having woked for Jordans since graduation. Donna Bowers is looking very smart in a gown from her Fashion Shop. The gown was designed by Marjorie Bleich.

There are several teachers here tonight representing many different schools. Dot Barnoff has made a great success of teaching kindergarten. Marion Rolls is teaching algebra in Punx'y High. Leatrice Bianco is a music teacher in the Pittsburgh schools and Joan Byerly is a home economics teacher. Other faculty members of P.H.S. are Allen Beatty, football and basketball coach, and Margaret Thomas, the Spanish teacher.

In town for a short rest is Mary Brooks who has just completed a successful season on Broadway. Norma Jean McCormick is surrounded by an interested group. She is telling them about a few of her adventures on her last trip to India and Burma. Those in the group are: Jane and Kathryn Lewis, wives of prominent bankers; Alma Melchick, Lois Shaffer, and Phyllis Snyder, missionaries in India. Norma Jean was accompanied on her trip by Martha Haag, who was doing some research on the life and habits of snakes. Kathryn Dubensky, a social worker in New York, has just joined the group.

Bang! What an explosion! Three scientists reluctant to leave their research are experimenting with the atom. They are John Staikides, Doyle Snyder, and Eugene Elbel.

The programs for tonight's banquet were typed by all the members of our class who are now successful secretaries. They are: Doris Mauk, Deloris Jean Lettie, Bertha Harkleroad, Maryalice Smith, Dorothy Snyder, Anna Louise Wineberg, Luella Young, Ella Mae Young, Helen Ruth Shafer, Gaynell Yoder, and Helen Young. Helen Young recently won the world's typing medal.

Other champions are Mary Jane Heitzenrater and Muriel Schrecongost who won fame by their shorthand ability. Also helping with the programs were Eunice Barnette and Delores Rotolo, stenographers with local firms.

There is a rush for combs and make-up as John Kallas, photographer, arrives with his cameras. John is arranging the guests for the class picture. John's retouch artist is Helen Orr. He is having some trouble with James Baun, draftsman; David Carrick, boxing promoter; Howard Douthit, math wizard; and William Gresock, creator of the new atomic wheat seed. These boys seem to think that they all belong in the last row. There is a slight delay as something has gone wrong with the electric spotlight. John Timchalk, electrician, is repairing it. In the front row of the picture are Agnes Batina, long distance telephone operator, and her sister Sophia. Also in the front row are several housewives: Dorothy Dubensky, Ruth Kromer, and Sara Bracken. Waiting to be arranged in the picture are Betty Jane Reed and Sara Jean Straitiff, factory workers.

There is a spirited discussion going on among the bookkeepers. They may be figuring out tonight's expenses. Mabel Jordan seems to be stressing a point, while Helen Himes, Gladys McKee, Mary Shields, Phyllis Brocious, Betty Lou Straitiff, and Vera Reitz listen interestedly.

Betty Rank has just arrived. She is employed by the government to refund the money for bonds and stamps. Betty was an energetic war bond and stamp seller when we were seniors ten years ago.

This banquet is being broadcast throughout the world over station WPHS. Radio technicians for the broadcast are Steve Stroplos and Phillip Kotula. Earl Parker, junior partner of Parker and Son's Sign Painting Firm, is the sponsor for our program.

Over in a secluded corner exchanging recipes are three very efficient housewives. They are Barbara Ecklund, Ruth Reitz, and Anita Mahan.

Ned McMillen is the owner of a large department store. Working in his office are Richard Butler and Charlotte Reed. Ned's private secretary is Jeannine Means. Two of his clerks are Montrose Snyder and Maxine Wineberg.

Phil Freas, owner of the newly erected Atomic Garage, is explaining the principle of his atomic tire changer to Bob Hockinson, test pilot. Other business men and women in the group are: Lois McLaughlin, manager of Murphy's Five and Ten, and Gilbert Young, owner of the Electra Machine Shop. Three successful business women who live together are Marilyn Sibley, Helen Dunkel, and Carolyn Pounds.

Lucky to be able to attend the banquet, Ed Shema, Harold Snedden, and Max Quigg who are home on furlough from the regular army.

Around the refreshment counter is Deloris Ott and Patricia Reams, housewives, renewing old acquaintances with Mary Polito, Marjorie Pearce, and Betty Johnson, experts on the care and feeding of animals at the Pittsburgh Zoo. Helen Renwick, who held the promptness and attendance record in high school, is just as efficient in her position as television director for N.B.C.

With great confusion, Harry Wachob is being welcomed by his enthusiastic friends. At first sight, he looks much like an Eskimo, but at closer inspection we recognize him as our happy classmate. He has just come from the Artic Circle where he was doing research with Admiral Byrd.

Talking over their experiences with him are: Robert Hobba, Helen Kennedy, and Ruth Mallory, who accompanied him on other trips. Doris Ott, wife of the Texas oil magnate, and Leanna Kunselman are having a serious discussion. Doris must be using quite a lot of the sales resistance about which we learned in economics.

Harold Keller is very fortunate in being here as he just arrived in the U. S. from the American Embassy in China. Harold has been our ambassador there for the past three years. Helen Hobba, stewardess for Transcontinental Air Lines, was on the same plane as he was all the way from San Francisco to Punx'y.

There has been a special request by Marcella Lazorcak and Mary Ellen Lettie for a high school cheer. Flora Belle Dodson and Wilma North will lead it.

I now hear the first strains of our "Alma Mater" and everyone rises as Lois McCreight leads us in the song.
